Rebeland . . . .

thirty-eight and one-half acres of ground just northwest of the business district of the City of West Monroe, is inhabited nine months of each year by approximately 1500 citizens who in return for its many opportunities, love, respect, and uphold the ideals of their land.

In the center of the Land of the Rebels, now two years old, can be seen a huge castle—no medieval castle of fairy-tale lore, but a modern, streamlined structure fully equipped with facilities for offering wide educational advantages to all its citizens. This building is the pride not only of Rebeland, but also of West Monroe and, indeed, the entire parish.

As Rebeland began its second year on September 7, 1954, returning inhabitants realized that more students, more teachers, paved streets and parking areas, and a completed football field were all evidence that Rebeland was growing and improving. Everyone was ready for a busy year.

Immediately the student council went into action, giving students experience in democratic living and a voice in the administration of the school. Since the constitution had been drawn up and officers had been elected the previous spring, election of representatives completed the organization. West Monroe High School's first student council was on the job.

Everywhere Rebeland's population was working. The Rebel Dispatch staff issued Volume II, Number I. The football team, the band, the Rebelettes, and the cheerleaders began in earnest what they had been practicing in the summer. Senior Rebels, wanting a record of their last year of high school, began to plan the '55 Rebelaire.

Offering varied training, the many departments that make up Rebeland — English and languages, mathematics, physical education and safety, agriculture, art, drama and speech, music, library, commerce, science, social sciences, journalism, home economics, trade school, distributive education—surged ahead with far more that the old "readin', writin', and 'rithmetic."

Choir and band concerts announced the coming of Christmas, and soon Rebeland was deserted for the holidays. To refreshed students the new year brought the organization of the Tusquahoma Chapter of the National Honor Society, and—as always—mid-term examinations. Another first was chalked up for Rebeland as the basketball team brought home West Monroe High's first trophy.

Suddenly the inhabitants of Rebeland began to succumb to the spell of little hints of green that had struggled through the clay of the campus; the yearly siege of spring fever had begun! In order to prevent an epidemic, all W. M. H. S. forces combined to revive students with the senior play; conventions; the science fair; spring training for the band, the Rebelettes, and the football team; and the onset of the baseball, golf, and track season.

Seniors realized how near graduation was, when the annual senior assembly popped up. Then in rapid succession final exams, the vesper service, and the senior trip to New Orleans paved the way to May 24, a crowded auditorium, and graduation.

As Rebeland's citizens received their report cards "for keeps," seniors wondered how '54-'55 could be gone already. But even as seniors sighed (a little) and may-be even cried (a very little) their thoughts were on the future—jobs, college, adult life. For Rebeland is a land of the future—planning, dreaming, working toward producing better citizens of Rebeland and, ultimately, of the United States.

Dedication . . . . . .

"Best of wishes" Mrs. Smith

For many students whose "home away from home" is West Monroe High School, "mother away from mother" is Mrs. Margaret Smith.

Because she has learned the secret of treating each student as an individual and making him feel that he is someone special, Mrs. Smith has won the confidence and the love of her W. M. H. S. "children." Whether a student approaches her for help, information, or personal advice, he knows he will be greeted with courtesy and kindness.

Sacrificial efforts in helping to establish the Student Council and the Honor Society have made 1954-55 a busy year for Mrs. Smith. In two more years W. M. H. S. will lose a conscientious educator when she retires.

For her gentleness and service, the W. M. H. S. seniors dedicate the '55 Rebelaire to Mrs. Margaret Smith.

Ouachita Parish School Board

Ouachita Parish School Board, under the leadership of J. H. Trousdale, Jr., president, made possible many improvements for West Monroe High School during the 1954-55 session.

Constructing a field house for the Athletic Department, blacktopping the roads in front and in back of the building, enlarging the Vocal Department, installing an acoustic ceiling in the band room, adding more typewriters to the Commerce Department, and purchasing a concert grand piano for the auditorium were projects undertaken during the year.

SCHOOL BOARD STAFF

Seated: Mrs. Effie Presnall, Miss Joyce Wilkes, Mrs. Herbert Henry, Miss Athline Connell. Standing: Mrs. Havis McKaskle, C. Solon King, M. C. Hall, Mrs. Evelyn Thomas, Miss Gladys Gregg, William W. Ward, Miss Gertrude Gregory.

The development of West Monroe High School into a well co-ordinated educational institution is a reflection of the personnel who have filled the positions of principal and assistant principal for the two years of the school's operation.

The plane on which the school's recreation, influence toward good, and ideals are placed requires strong, constructive leadership in a principal. In West Monroe High School's program the influence of its principal, P. B. Mangum, can be felt in the co-operative spirit of teachers and students, the support the school receives from the community, and the appearance of the school and its surroundings.

S. R. BRALEY
Assistant Principal

Behind the desk in the assistant principal's office S. R. Braley, always willing to advise and help with personal or school problems, spends many hours counseling with teachers and students. His summer's work of planning students' daily schedules and the over-all program of the school is responsible for the smooth system with which W. M. H. S. goes into operation in the fall.

Bookkeeping students, supervised by Mrs. Vance, get training for future office work.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Ordained with the belief that democracy can be learned only through experience, the Student Council is composed of the executive and legislative departments with a student court and a monitorial staff.

Sponsoring the organization of the Tusquahoma Chapter of the National Honor Society, opening the teachers' lounge, setting up the monitorial staff, which is on duty in the halls, in the auditorium during assemblies, and in the cafeteria, and being responsible for all elections held in the school were projects of this year.

Officers of the Student Council attended conventions in Jackson, Mississippi, and in Alexandria, Louisiana.

STUDENT COUNCIL STAFF

Ads are being drawn up for the printer by Imogene Webb, assistant advertising manager; Helen Barnett, advertising manager; Larry Alexander, assistant business manager; and Margaret Russell, business manager.

Discussing art work for the '55 annual are Janet Varnado; Marilou Anderson, art editor; Sylvia Gould; Carol Herron; and Gene Newsom. Charlotte Latham, illustrator, was not present.

What makes a good yearbook? Perhaps everybody has different ideas on this subject, but the 1955 Rebelaire staff worked throughout the school year to incorporate into one book their opinions of the best way to present life at West Monroe High School.

From seniors who had shown initiative in selling ads to help finance the book, Miss Dorothy Jo Jones and Mrs. Don Halsell, business and editorial sponsors, chose the editors and managers in the fall. All seniors who had displayed interest in the annual were staff members.

Watching and helping the yearbook emerge from stacks of pictures, unknown numbers of tablets of cut-lines and written and re-written articles, typed copy, ads, layouts, student art work, and finally, galley proof, proved an exciting adventure to the entire staff.

Aided by Mrs. John Platt, art teacher, Charlotte Latham drew all the Rebelaire illustrations.

Favorites whose pictures appear in the feature section of this book were elected by their classmates, each class choosing its own two representatives. Pictures of five girls and three boys who received the most votes on Senior Class ballots for "most beautiful" and "handsomest" compose the first part of the feature section. The title of "Mr. and Miss West Monroe High" was given to the boy and girl leading the Senior Class favorites.

The staff of the '55 Rebelaire has attempted to create in these pages, a clear and true picture of the year 1954-1955 at West Monroe High School.

THE 1955 REBELAIRE

Shelby Brown, Bob Kennedy, Bob Mathews, circulation manager, and Rawls Dupree, assistant circulation manager, prepare to solicit annual subscriptions from the student body.

Bill Seymour, student photographer, talks over the feature section of the REBELAIRE with Marjorie Russ, feature editor, and Rita Barnes, assistant feature editor.

Since half the cost of the Rebel Dispatch is paid for through the sale of ads, the advertising staff must work constantly to keep the paper "in the black." Here, Joann Gaster, Sherill Ruby, Faye Parker, Larry Alexander, business manager, and Toni Ketchell leave school to sell ads to merchants.

Rebel Dispatch reporters Beryl Baxter, Jimmy Cook, Bob Kennedy, Marilou Anderson and Paula Cage set out to "nose for news" each phase of school life in order to ascertain what should be included in the next issue of the school paper

THE REBEL DISPATCH

"What's the deadline on news stories?" was answered by Mrs. Don Halsell, journalism teacher, for the seven issues of the Rebel Dispatch published in 1954-55. Designed to teach, inform, entertain, and uphold school ideals, the Dispatch finished its second year with three six-page and four four-page issues.

Edited by a staff of seniors who had taken

Pictures by Bill Seymour, Deanna Lee, and Mary Nell Averett, photographers, and Charlotte Latham, cartoonist, lend interest to the Dispatch.

A front page feature is in the making as Velda Watts, assistant feature editor, interviews Carl Brupbacher, band director.

REBEL DISPATCH editors check the "dummy" before it is sent to the printer, making sure all articles and ads are correctly pinned in place: Linda Garrett, feature editor; Bobby Moore, sports editor; Carol Herron, news editor; and Sylvia Gould, editor-in-chief.

or were taking journalism, the Dispatch was financed entirely by the advertising of co-operative business firms and subscriptions of the student body.

Each issue contained news articles and editorials covering school life, and pictures reflecting the activities of West Monroe students. Features, humor, and sports completed the make-up of the Rebel Dispatch.

Typing and proofreading, two essential jobs, are here being done by Joanne Williams and Dorothy Alexander, seated; Bob Mathews, Tommy Sanders, Mary Burton, and Joyce Salsbury, standing.

Distributing papers throughout the school is the work of the circulation staff: Arthur Craig, Anna Camp, Norman Grantham, and Rawls Dupree, manager. Martha Wade, exchange editor, is folding copies of the REBEL DISPATCH, preparatory to mailing them to other schools.

Carol Herron and Jimmy Cook

Good Citizens

Dependability, leadership, service and patriotism were character traits considered by members of the Senior Class when they chose Carol Herron and Jimmy Cook to receive the the 1955 Good Citizenship awards.

Carol, who competed with Good Citizens from other Louisiana high schools on a government examination in Baton Rouge, was presented with a medal at graduation by the Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Jimmy also received a medal at graduation from his sponsor, the American Legion, Burnette-Downs Post 102.

Student Office Staff

Answering the telephone, delivering messages, running errands, acting as receptionist, operating the mimeograph machine, collecting absentee slips, and distributing absentee sheets comprise the duties of student office assistants at West Monroe High School.

The girls volunteer to stay in the office one period a day helping the principal, the assistant principal, and the secretary.

Boys' State

West Monroe High School was represented at 1954 Pelican Boys' State in Baton Rouge by Larry Alexander, Dennis Fields, and Bill Seymour.

At Pelican State Larry was chosen city clerk and served on the "Ways and Means" committee of the Nationalist Party; Dennis was elected state senator; and Bill Seymour was chosen chief of police.

An imaginary state government, Pelican Boys' State enables its citizens to learn by participation, how the real state government works.

Elected by the faculty, the boys were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholastic ability, and character.

The West Monroe Kiwanis Club sponsored Dennis Fields, West Monroe Lions Club, Bill Seymour, and Isadora Liebreich Lodge of B'nai B'rith, Larry Alexander.

Girls' State

Six girls, chosen on the basis of leadership, scholastic ability, and character, represented W. M. H. S. at Girls' State on the L. S. U. campus August 19-27. They participated in setting up a model state government which performed the functions of a real state and had the same officials.

Taking part in these model governments were Janice Frazier, Georgia City commissioner of street and parks; Marjorie Russ, Texas City sheriff; Loretta Eppinette, member of the Georgia City school board; Rita Barnes, superintendent of education; and Melba Marris, Mississippi City judge.

Delegates were sponsored by the West Monroe Businessmen's Association; the Gavel Club; Bobashelas Book Club; Carl White, of the West Monroe branch of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Co.; and the West Monroe Lions Club.

Raising school spirit, Confederate-capped Rebelettes in their blue and gray uniforms sold Rebel license plates, pennants, and programs to spectators at all home football games. Precision drill half-time shows reflected hours spent practicing during the summer and after school. Included among other school activities were an annual banquet and a spring hayride.

By ushering at the Little Theater and by selling Easter Seals, Christmas tree tickets, and Spanish American War Veterans' and Navy Mothers' tags, the Rebelettes participated in community projects.

One hundred eighteen senior, junior, and sophomore girls, having and maintaining at least an 84 average, comprised the 1954-55 squad.

THE W. M. H. S. BAND

A trip to Mardi Gras in New Orleans for the second consecutive year was a high point in this year's program of activities for the W.M.H.S. Band. Half-time shows and several parades, including rodeo, March of Dimes, homecoming, and Armistice Day, were also part of its schedule. With the Rebelettes, the band won first place for marching in the Cotton Festival Parade at Bastrop.

Christmas and spring concerts highlighted the band's public appearances. A rating of "very good" was received at District 1 Music Education Association Festival.

asketball game is pepped up by band's lively music.

Marching down Trenton Street, the band steps high.

At mid-term the promotion of C. Solon King, band director, to the position of Ouachita Parish supervisor of music, brought the band a new director, Carl Brupbacher, from Lake Providence.

Serving as head drum major was James McElroy, senior, whose qualities of leadership, neatness, and willingness to work secured him the post.

W. M. H. S. CHOIR

West Monroe High School Choir's annual Christmas Concert on December 21 and Spring Concert on April 19, under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, were the two main events in this year's schedule.

The choir sang for the annual Louisiana Education Association Convention held in Monroe. It received a rating of excellent at the Louisiana Music Education Association Festival at Northeast Louisiana State College. Other appearances were at the Grace Episcopal Church, First Baptist Church, Ruston High School, and Calhoun High School.

Concluding the year's activities, the choir sang at the honors assembly, at baccalaureate, and at commencement.

Ensemble members, chosen from the choir by Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick, must possess good singing voices and be at least average students. This organization performs in public more than any other school choral group, sings at the annual concerts, and entertains the student body at assemblies.

This year the ensemble rated superior at the annual L. M. E. A. festival.

In addition to performing at school functions, this group sang for the Bobashelas Book Club, the Lions Club, the Rotary Club, the Lionesses, the Health Convention, and the School Hilites T.V. program.

1954 FOOTBALL SEASON

The Rebel grid machine under the direction of Head Coach Howard W. Barker, assisted by Coaches Dan McClure, Jeff Hennessy and Bobby Wilson, rolled to a halt this year with two wins, ten defeats and one tie. Though outweighed and inexperienced, the Rebels always fought hard and lost several games by close scores.

They first tasted victory by defeating Marion, in Lake Charles, in a hard fought battle. Then West Monroe battled the Pineville Rebels to a 13-13 deadlock the next week. Closing out the season, the Rebels downed the Mangham Dragons here in a home game.

Joe Adcock, of the Milwaukee Braves, was the guest speaker at the second annual W. M. H. S. Athletic Banquet. He spoke on his experiences as a professional ball player. The banquet, sponsored by the Quarterback Club, honored players of all sports. Since football season had just been completed, the following awards were made: Malcolm Bass, most valuable player; Marlin Moore, best lineman; Billy Joe Thompson, sportsmanship; and E. C. Roark, Key Club Hall of Fame Trophy for '53.

The Rebel machine sees action against the Bastrop Rams.

Winning first place for the second consecutive time at cheerleader camp in Dallas started the '54-'55 varsity cheerleaders off on the right foot. Led by head cheerleader Donnie Alexander and sponsor Mrs. Natalie May, they engaged in money-making activities such as selling shakeroos, pennants, and tags. A football dance was also sponsored by this group.

Showing dramatic talent, they presented skits at football assemblies and were heard on a radio program telling of their duties and activities.

An artistic member of the team, Ronnie Alexander, made the crown for the '54 homecoming queen and presented it to Mr. Mangum on behalf of all the cheerleaders.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The freshman football team, composed of freshmen and eighth grade boys, completed its second year of high school competition with a record of two wins and three losses, both wins being over Bastrop.

Although the frosh were beaten 6-0, the Ruston game was probably the toughest and best of the season.

On The Ball With Teamwork and Sportsmanship

King Howard Barker chooses JoAnn as his queen.

Rebeland's first homecoming was celebrated by the crowning of Queen JoAnn McGough in an assembly in the auditorium on Friday, November 5. The Lettermen's Club chose the queen and her court of ten maids to reign over this first homecoming ceremony.

Ruler of Rebeland, King Howard Barker, according to a fairy tale related to the assembled students by Miss Ann Thompson, was seeking a successor to his throne. His ten sons, seniors and last-year men, each escorted a princess to the king's court. A queen was to be chosen from this group.

Prince Robert Harris was named the lucky son, for King Barker abdicated his throne and crowned Jo Ann McGough as West Monroe High's first homecoming queen. Princess Gay Monroe was chosen maid of honor.

Following this ceremony, the queen, her court, and their escorts rode through the Twin Cities in a colorful parade with the band, Rebelettes, and club floats following.

Quarterback Club President J. C. Watson crowned the queen for the second time on the field before the game between the Rebels and the Fair Park Indians. After the game a dance in the gym ended the homecoming festivities.

Escorts Marlin Moore, Harold Lloyd Willis, Malcolm Bass, Tommy Brakefield, Vincent Marzula, Robert Harris, Benny Gammill, Don Adams, Hershel Jones, and Billy Joe Thompson pose with their princesses. Little Gary Emerel is football mascot; Randy Russell, crown-bearer.

Smiling after pre-game crowning ceremonies are Vera Gould, Linda Landers, Jennie Lou Ervin, Truly Chapman, Gay Monroe, JoAnn McGough, Sherrill Ruby, Joy Emerel, Gwen Nelson, Carolyn Humble, Randy Russell, Debbie Warren, cheerleader mascot, Gary Emerel, Sandra Hulsey, flower girl.

BASKETBALL—1955

Entering the second year of AAA competition, the Confederate hoopsters started out the season with a winning streak, taking such top north Louisiana teams as Calhoun, Bolton, Jonesboro, and our bayou rivals, Neville High.

Under the guidance of new Coach Gene Hardin from Sterlington the Rebel cagers experienced a fairly successful season. Knocked out of AAA competition by the Bastrop Rams, the Rebs went on to win 17 games to 12 losses. Tom Sanders and Gary Huckabay received trophies for making the All-City first team.

The Rebs didn't suffer from lack of height this season, the shortest varsity man being Dennis Fields, 5'10", who showed outstanding ball handling and scoring.

Coach Hardin's flashy squad won the first athletic trophy for W.M.H.S., taking third place in the Farmerville tourney. To top this the Confederate cage machine edged Wilmot, Arkansas, by a five-point margin to take first place trophy at the Bonita Tourney.

The cagers won another honor for West Monroe in the tournament at Calhoun. In competition with strong teams like Downsville, Ouachita, Ruston, and Calhoun, the Rebels took third place in the tourney, falling to Ruston. Ruston went on to edge Ouachita for top place in the finals. Coach Terrell, of Calhoun, presented the Rebs medals for coming in third.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Patsy Rawls ballhawks the backboard against Neville Tigers.

Winning second place in the Bonita tournament, the Rebel sextet brought home their first trophy. Becky Phillips received a trophy for being chosen the best girl player at the tournament. Becky and John Ann Painich were awarded basketballs for making all-tournament team. The sextet won over Bonita and Wilmot in the tournament, but lost to Linville 38-27 in the finals.

BASEBALL TEAM

Coach Bobby C. Wilson's Rebel nine experienced a successful season this year, winning the North Louisiana AAA title.

The Rebel batsmen suffered only one defeat in their first eight starts, when Delhi downed them 4-1. This game was called after 5½ innings of play when Robert Harris, West Monroe pitcher, was struck in the face by a line drive off a Delhi bat.

Wayne Hendricks, who pitched a no-hitter against the Bossier City Bearcats, made the All-Conference team last year. Wayne had a fine season this year too, pitching a shut-out against Ouachita, allowing no one to reach third base.

GOLF TEAM

West Monroe's Rebel linksmen, directed by Coach Howard Barker, participated against stiff competition in four golf matches this year with Bastrop, Neville, and Bolton of Alexandria. Because of last year's graduation, only two veteran putters, Roland Coats and Eddie Watkins, returned to tee off for West Monroe.

Although the team didn't take honors this year, they received much experience, which, according to Coach Barker, should be valuable next season.

Eddie Watkins, captain of the team, proved most outstanding player, barely being edged in all the tourneys.

TRACK TEAM

Jimmy Haddox, Robert Hattaway, Keith Hammons, Ronnie Sanford, Bobby Witt, Malcolm Bass, Billy Battaglia, and Lee Evans composed the backbone of the 1955 Rebel track team. Under Coach Jeff Hennessy the boys showed improvement, although until the time the Rebelaire went to press, they hadn't had any significant wins.

Malcolm Bass, senior, perhaps participated in more different phases of track than any other one track member.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

As West Monroe's wide physical education program got under way this year, the boys' classes were found outside playing football, softball and pitching horseshoes for a six weeks' period. Girls, meeting in the gym, participated in such activities as rhythm dancing, volley ball, ping pong, and basketball. When bad weather kept the boys inside, there were always good checker games going on in the field house.

When the boys took over the gym, playing basketball, volley ball, ping pong, and jumping on the trampoline, the girls played softball out on the practice field or studied health in the field house. The boys participated in a six weeks' health program which included talks on cleanliness, and several physical fitness tests, such as the vertical jump, a 50-yard dash, tests on the eyes and the ears, and a check on the teeth.

Senior girls covered all phases of first-aid in the spring.

Ronnie Danna won first place for West Monroe in the state trampoline contest at Northwestern State College in April. Minnie Fox took fourth place in the girls' division. In the boys' division, Charles Stewart won fourth place, and Sherwood Holmes, sixth place.

Having defeated Neville 9-3 and Ouachita 20-7, the W. M. H. S. girls' softball team became twin city champ. Other victories included Ouachita 10-6, Calhoun 28-19, 10-6; Jonesboro 26-8. The team was beaten by Farmerville 11-7, 10-9; and Bonita 7-3.

Joann Gaster, Carol Herron, Ronnie Alexander, and Olna Grey Antley manipulate the puppets made by the department for puppet shows.

Outstanding among Art Club projects this year were arranging valentine displays in the showcase of the school lobby, and constructing backdrops and sets for school plays and choir concerts.

Several members of the club presented a puppet show at the Commercial Solvents' Christmas party at the J. L. Smith School in Sterlington. New Art Club members were initiated at a Christmas party given by Mrs. Platt.

Thirteen members attended the second State Art Convention in Baton Rouge in March.

Highlight of the 1954-55 activities of the Distributive Education Club, members of which receive retail training while attending school, was the state convention attended by twelve members in Natchitoches during January. Doyle Daniel was elected state parliamentarian.

"Miss Merry Christmas and Mr. Happy New Year" reigned over the annual D. E.-sponsored party in December. An employer-employee banquet was given by the club in March.

Using merchandise from the stores which employed D. E. students, club members made a display in the D. E. Department's hall "store windows."

Organized to design young people for a career in the business world, the West Monroe chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America sponsored an amateur show, valentine booths, and candy sales to raise money for state and national F. B. L. A. convention expenses.

Robert Harris and Mary Ann Ferguson were chosen as Mr. Executive and Miss Model Secretary to represent the club at the state convention in New Orleans, April 1-3. Pat Stewart, Carol Herron, and Margaret Russell entered the spelling contest. The chapter was also represented in the scrapbook and song contests.

Guest speakers for the year included Miss Lallage Feazel, of Feazel Oil Company, and J. W. Roberson, president of the First National Bank. They and Charles Chisholm, of Unique Cleaners, and F. C. McConnell, of Louisiana Power and Light Company, make up the business committee for the chapter.

Looking to the future, the West Monroe chapter of Future Farmers of America undertook a service project of planting pine and live oak trees on the school campus.

The F. F. A., a national organization of rural and farm boys, has as its primary objective the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

First place was taken by the F. F. A. booth at the Ouachita Valley Fair. A livestock judging team composed of Donald Chatham, Billy Jordan, and Ben Bradberry won third place at the Delhi Livestock Show, competing against sixty-four other teams.

Six members went to the area leadership training conference at Northeast Louisiana State College, and three delegates attended the state convention in Ruston.

Composed of both junior and senior groups, the West Monroe High School 4-H club won the Kiwanis Club award at Achievement Day held at the close of the 1954 school year, scoring more points on attendance and first places than any other school in the parish.

Thirteen members of the West Monroe club attended summer camp near Pollock, Louisiana.

At the Ouachita Valley Fair in October the following 4-H'ers entered contests: Bobby Hollingsworth, two Holstein heifers, placing first and second; Charles Owens, three Holstein heifers, placing first and second; Wallace Freeman, three Guernsey heifers, placing first and second.

Johnny Poole won first place in showman-

Furthering interest in the study of geography, cooperating in all school activities, and having a service project are the objectives of the Geography Club, composed of students in the first period geography class.

This year's service project consisted of collecting rummage for the F.B.L.A. rummage sale. Proceeds were used by the F.B.L.A. for convention expenses. Also, some members sent their scrapbooks, made as class projects, to local hospitals.

Honor Society

To create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in W. M. H. S. students are the purposes of the Tusquahoma Chapter of the National Honor Society, organized this year at West Monroe High School.

This club is affiliated with the national organization of honor societies that encourages high school students to become conscious of scholastic abilities.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, of W. M. H. S., with the help of Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, of W. M. H. S., and Miss Sallie Humble, of Ouachita Parish High School, took the initiative in organizing the club.

Twenty-four charter senior members each with an over-all average of 86, were chosen by a faculty committee. Character, leadership, service, and scholarship were considered.

The name "Tusquahoma" originated with an Indian Chief who lived in the area west of the Ouachita River.

The Jack Hayes Chapter of the National Honor Society, from O. P. H. S., officiated at the initiation of the West Monroe group. Mrs. Mary Lee Lewis was elected by the chapter to serve with Mrs. Smith as co-sponsor.

To serve those who are in need, not only of the material things of life, but also of the aesthetic things, is the purpose behind the American Junior Red Cross.

Projects this year included registering bicycles, raising funds, participating in a television program, and filling overseas gift boxes. The club also sent valentines to old folks' homes and hospitals, and collected funny books, pecans, vases, walking canes, and gifts for hospitals.

At Christmas members sponsored entertainment by the W.M.H.S. Ensemble for a party at St. Joseph's Old Folks' Home. Candy made by the Home Economics Department was served.

After distributing the "W. M. H. S. Student Handbook" to all students free of charge, the West Monroe High School Key Club sponsored the sale of "Rebels' Addresses," a booklet containing the names and addresses of all W. M. H. S. students and faculty, for 25 cents. A spaghetti-meatball supper was held to help finance this project.

Thirteen members and the sponsor attended the district convention in Memphis, where the club received honorable mention for achievements in the district. Bill Seymour represented the club at Key Club International Convention at Philadelphia, serving as sergeant-at-arms.

The March of Dimes, the Salvation Army, and the Kiwanis Club were aided by participation of the entire membership. The Key Club Basketball Team won championship in its class in the Monroe Recreation League during regular season play. At the Athletic Banquet the Key Club began the tradition of presenting the outstanding athlete of the previous year with a trophy. The school was given a plaque on which the name of the athlete will be engraved each year.

Fifty-two students united by the purpose of promoting the study of the customs and language of the ancient Roman Empire, composed the 1954-55 Latin Club. Ten of these were charter members.

The club's entry in the homecoming parade, a Pontiac convertible carrying Delores West as the Goddess of Victory, won first place in the cars.

Special guest speakers this year were three students from Neville High School. George Snellings talked about his trip to Europe, giving special emphasis to Rome. Mary Jo Davenport and Mary Elizabeth Webster gave an account of the Junior Classical League National Convention which they attended at San Antonio, Texas, last June.

Thirty-seven members of the club attended the J. C. L. Convention at Opelousas in April. Freddy Webb was elected reporter of the Louisiana Junior Classical League.

Qualification for membership in the Library Club is to have a desire to know the library better and to broaden the library's services and ideals. Members must maintain a passing average and donate two hours weekly for work. The club serves to bring together all students interested in the functions of the library.

Byrd High School in Shreveport was the destination of club members this year on their annual field trip. Members of the Byrd High School Library Club acted as hosts, serving lunch in the school cafeteria. On the way to Byrd, the Library Club also visited the Ruston High School Library.

Dear Peggy,

I have enjoyed being one of your schoolmates this year. I dare say that you were a very nice person to deal with. You just continue as sweet as you are and you will have many friends. Your knowledge is good and you have a chance at a very successful future. Best of luck in the coming years and in anything you attempt to do, be a wonderful girl. I hope our friendship remains until we are old and following years.
